
Ella's Grand Dream Ballet
Ella's Grand Dream Ballet

Every night, when stars began to twinkle,
Ella the elephant drifted off to sleep.

But her dreams were never ordinary, no indeed!

Tonight, Ella dreamt she was at magnificent Carnegie Hall!

And her fellow dancers were the most elegant giraffes you ever saw.

Ella loved to dance, though her steps were not always as light.

Suddenly, the stage floor turned into a shimmering lake!

They twirled and leaped, their reflections dancing on Hyena Lake.

Even a shy hyena watched from the wings, giggling softly.

Oops! A little splash didn't stop
Ella's grand performance.

The grand finale arrived, and the audience roared with applause!

Ella felt a warmth spread through her heart, a dancer's joy.

A special rose, just for her,
drifted onto the stage.

As her dream began to fade,
Ella kept the memory close.

Waking up, a gentle smile
played on her lips.

Ready for a new day, and perhaps,
a new dream tonight!
