Mooney and the Moon Explorers

Far, far above the sleepy Earth,
three brave astronauts flew to the moon!

With a soft ‘thump,’ they landed
their ship, ready for adventure!

Oh no! Their rocket was broken,
and they couldn't fly home!

Just then, a friendly face appeared from behind a giant moon rock!

It was Mooney, the original
Man on the Moon, there to greet them!

They told Mooney all about their broken ship and their worry.

Mooney, wise and kind, promised to help them fix their rocket.

Together, they tightened bolts and mended wires, like a busy space team!

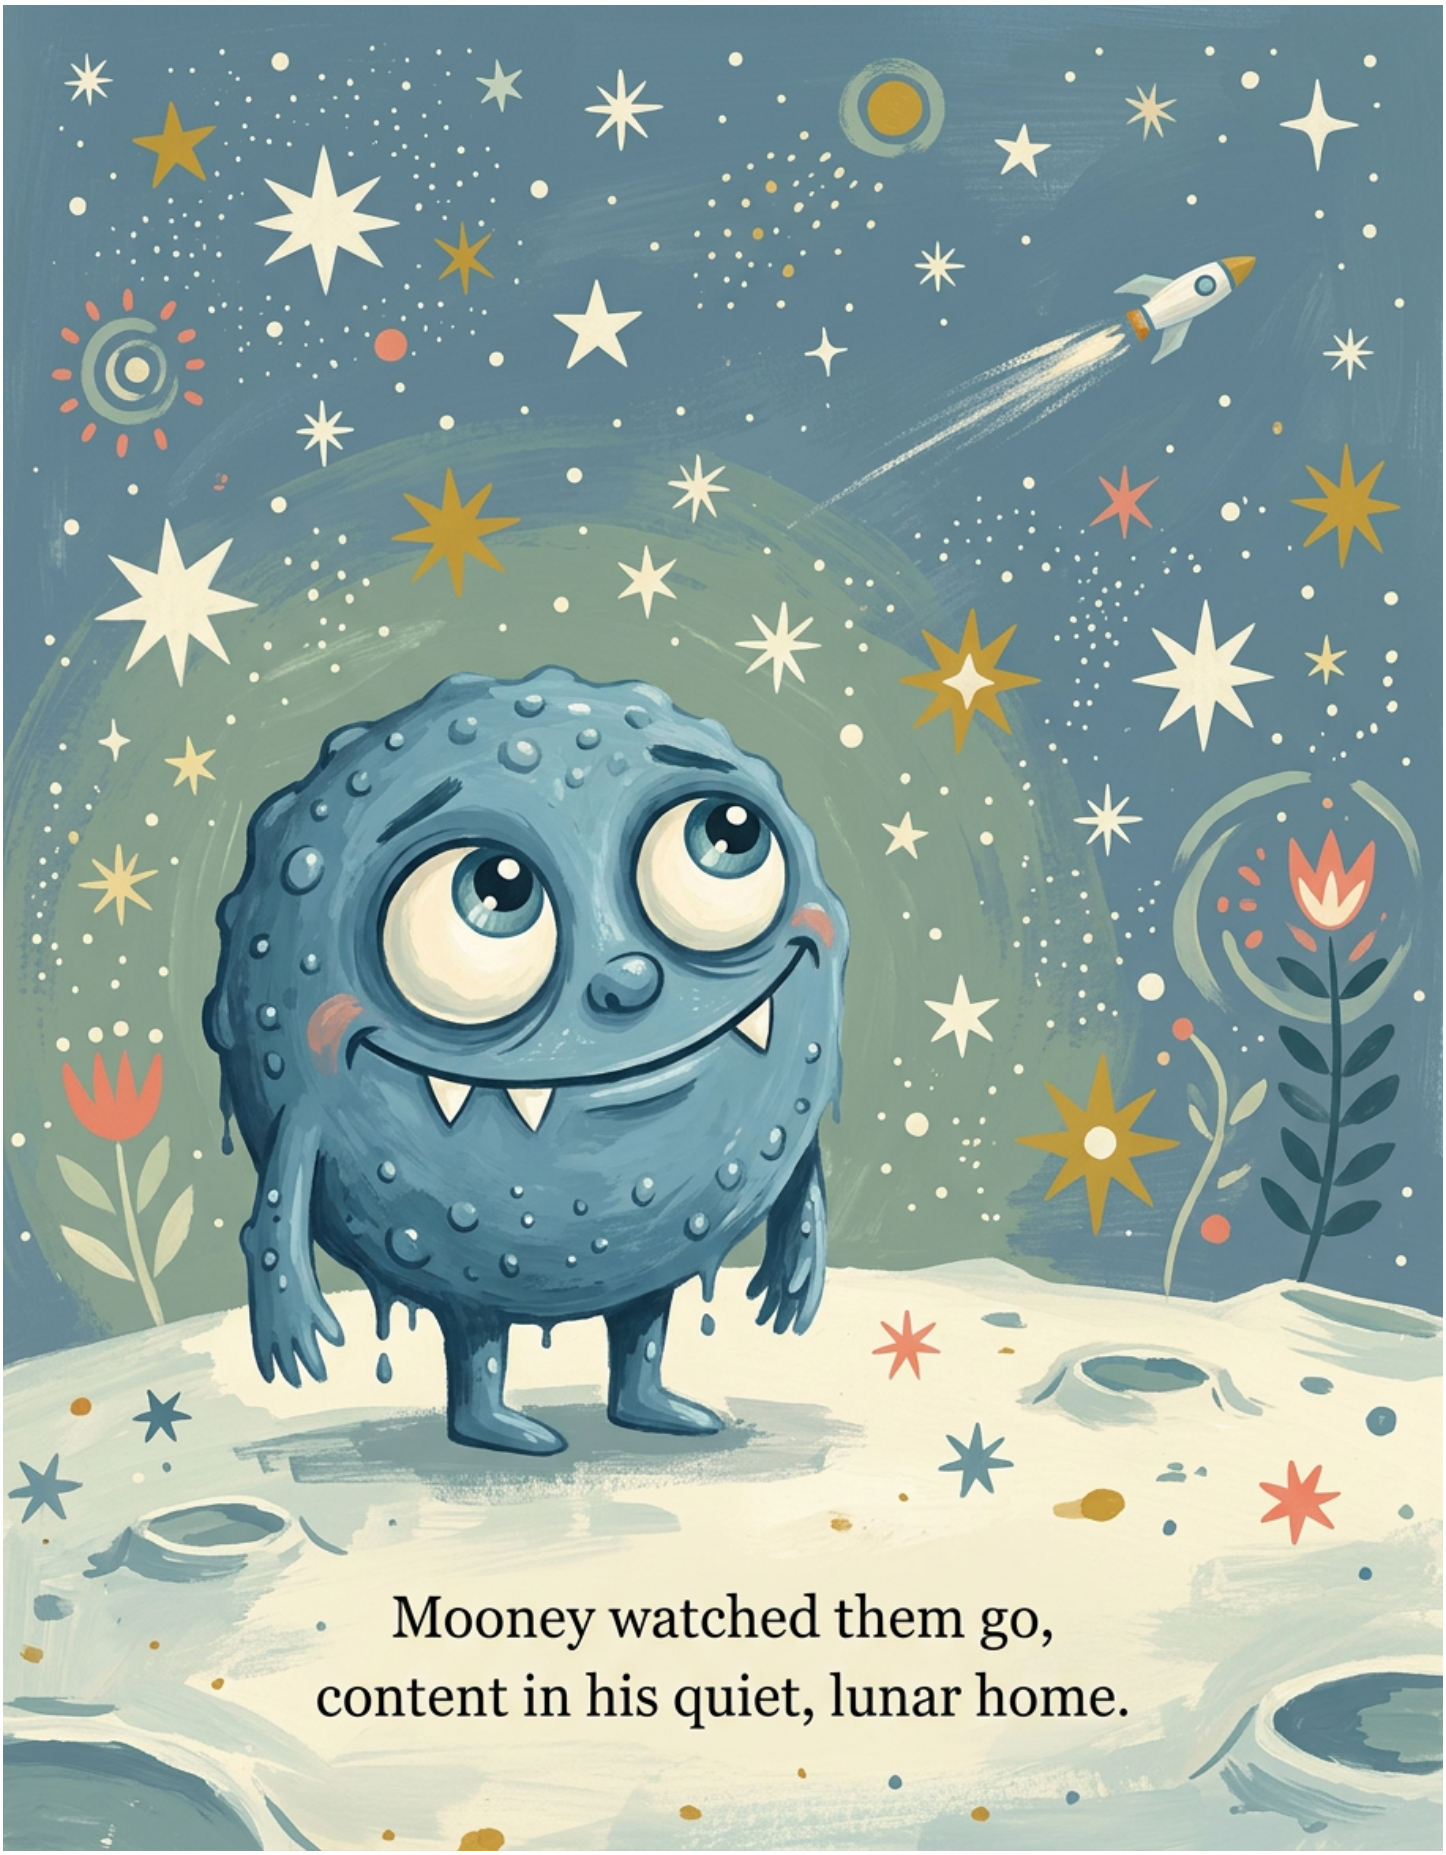

ZOOM! The engine purred,
and their spaceship was fixed!

“Come with us to Earth!”
they cried, offering a ride home.

But Mooney loved the peace of his moon, quiet and still.

He kindly declined, happy to stay in his starry domain.

With grateful goodbyes,
the astronauts waved from their flying ship.

Mooney watched them go,
content in his quiet, lunar home.

They often gazed at the moon,
remembering their special friend, Mooney.
